

Introducing... two new sections that will be included in your December 31, 2016 statement from Manulife Securities: Annual Performance of this Account and Annual Charges and Commissions for this Account.

Annual Performance of this Account

Manulife Securities will include, in your December 31, 2016 statement, an Annual Performance of this Account section summarizing the changes in market value for your account and your rates of return.

1 Account Market Value reports the amounts deposited and withdrawn from your account along with its change in market value. These amounts are reported for the 2016 calendar year and the five-year period from January 1, 2012 to December 31, 2016. Some accounts will use a different starting date than January 1, 2012.

2 Rates of Return are personal to you. We use a money-weighted calculation that takes into consideration the amount and timing of your deposits/withdrawals and any charges deducted from your account. By comparing your rates of return to your investment goals, you can assess if you are on plan to meet these goals.

Examples only: the charts below do not reflect your actual account information.
